THE SNOW SHOE REGION

Fourth Instalment of Historical Sketch.

RATTLESNAKE DEN

Organization of Snow Shoe Township—Saw Mill and Other Improvements.

COMPILED BY JAMES GILLILAND

He opened and cultivated a farm, on which he lived, and where he died on the 27th day of September, 1858, aged sixty-nine years, He raised a family of six sons—Nelson, McCalmont, Samuel Y., Isaac, Thomas, and Jesse—and several daughters. The family was strongly represented in the war to preserve the Union. Nelson was killed at second Bull Run; McCalmont died in camp at Langley; Thomas died of disease contracted in the service after his discharge; Isaac and Jesse, after serving their country faithfully, were honorably discharged, and returned to Snow Shoe, where they now reside; and Samuel Y. also resides in Snow Shoe, and is one of its most highly-respected citizens. The eldest daughter is the wife of Messr Gunsallis, who purchased from Bishop White's heirs one hundred acres of land, through which the Indian path passed; his house being but a few rods west of the site of the Snow Shoe camp; and in the decline of life he is enjoying a comfortable home, the fruits of persevering industry. The second daughter is the wife of Captain William White, a good and useful citizen of Burnside township.

John Singleton and John Long are classed with the first settlers. They were employed in the coal mines, but did not remain long in the country.

Baptist Lucas went out from the Bald Eagle Valley and located on a Levy tract, now owned by E. C. Humes and others. After living here a few years he built a house near Beech Creek, and moved into it, where he died in 1833, leaving a large family of sons and daughters and a widow, who was a sister of Samuel Askey.

Samuel Gunsallis, also from the Bald Eagle Valley, located on land adjoining the Snow Shoe Camp Surveys on the east. He opened and mined coal, and kept a tavern for the accommodation of coal-haulers and others who might happen to pass that way. He sold the property to his son-in-law, William Loy, who improved it and occupied it for a few years, and then exchanged with James McMasters for property in Milesburg, Mr. McMasters made further improvements, and in 1857 sold to the Bellefonte and Snow Shoe Railroad Company, which is now the owner.

Following Samuel Gunsallis were Joseph Keeler, John Bowes, Nicholas Frye, William Mulhollan, Jacob Kunes, and River Tom Lucas, as he was called, completing the list of those who are considered first settlers. Joseph Keeler did not remain and become a permanent settler. John Bowes was a son of Thomas Bowes, an Irishman, who was an early settler of Bald Eagle Valley, and who purchased a Wallace tract from the Gratzes and expended much labor in opening a large farm in the midst of the forest, and did his part in contributing to the improvement of the country He raised a large family of sons and daughters. Several of the sons enlisted at the commencement of the late civil war, and were honorably discharged at its close. Mr. Bowes kept a hotel for many years. He died in 1859. Hiram Bates, who married a daughter, owns and occupies the homestead—a beautiful and well-improved farm.

Nicholas Fye was an early settler in Penn's Valley, from whence he removed to Snow Shoe, and lived on the tract of land now owned by Dr. Stewart. He died many years ago.

William Mulhollan went out from the Bald Eagle Valley and located near the river. He was a son of Rudolph Mulhollan, who was an early settler in the Bald Eagle Valley, and he emigrated to Ohio.

Jacob Kunes, previous to his settling in Snow Shoe, was a resident of Bald Eagle Valley. He lived several years on the Karthaus road, cleared some land, made a few square timber rafts every winter, and finally left and located in Clearfield county.

River Tom Lucas, did not remain long; but returned to Bald Eagle Valley, whence he came.

ORGANIZATION OF SNOW SHOE TOWNSHIP.

Up to 1840 the region of country we are considering formed a part of Bogg township, and the citizens had to travel over the Allegheny Mountains to Milesburg to vote. To remedy this and other inconveniences incident to their isolated conditions, they petitioned the court at August Sessions, 1839, praying to have a separated township laid off. Commissioners were appointed, who reported at November Sessions setting off a township, which was confirmed nisi, and at January Sessions, 1840, confirmed absolutely. The place of voting was at the Askey schoolhouse. The people desired to have the new township called Susquehanna, but Judge Burnside related the tradition of the white hunters, and, as he thought the Indian camp had got the name from the incident, he named the township "Snow Shoe."

SAW MILLS AND OTHER IMPROVEMENTS.

In June, 1840. H. B. Trezuny, Hyson Trezuny, James Ward, S. T. Shuzert, and James Gilliland, having heard that trout were abundant in Beech Creek and Little Moshannon, went out from Bellefonte on a fishing excursion. The stately pine trees attracted their attention. On their return to Bellefonte, James Gilliland met accidentally Jacob Gratz, of Philadelphia, who was on his way to Snow Shoe to look after his lands, and ready to engage in any project to improve the country, provided it did not involve a large expenditure of money. The building of the Beech Creek saw-mill which James Gilliland put in operation in the winter of 1841, was a result of this fishing excursion, and the commencement of a new era in the history of Snow Shoe. Previous thereto sawed lumber could not be obtained without hauling a great distance and over roads almost impassable.

McCALMONT—WEAVER.

Pretty Nuptial Event of Wednesday Evening.

On Wednesday Aug 16 at 6:30 p. m. a very pretty nuptial event was celebrated at the home of J. C. Weaver on North Penn street. The contracting parties were Mr. Robert W. McCalmont, of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Elsie Weaver, of Bellefonte. It was a very quiet affair only the immediate friends of the happy couple being present.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A Wood Jr., pastor of the Methodist church, in the absence of Dr. Laurie, the bride's pastor. There were no best man or bridesmaids.

After the ceremony and congratulations a splendid wedding supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs McCalmont departed on the 8:16 for the seashore for a brief wedding tour after which they will locate at Rochester, N. Y., where the groom holds a lucrative position in the main office of the American Express company.

The groom is the son of James S. McCalmont and wife of State College, while the bride is the eldest daughter of J. C. Weaver of this city. She is a splendid musician and a highly accomplished and attractive young lady.

Gramley—Sturgis.

Quite a fashionable wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Walter, in Millheim, on Aug 16 when S. Ward Gramley, of Spring Mills, and Miss Bessie E. Sturgis, of Millheim, were united in marriage, The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. C. Piper in the presence of a small number of invited friends. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gramley left on a brief honeymoon trip.

The bride is a daughter of Charles A. Sturgis, of Watsontown, but has made her home with her aunt, Mrs. A. Walter, in Millheim, ever since childhood. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Gramley, of Spring Mills, and is a school teacher by profession, having just recently been elected principal of the Mt. Union, Huntingdon county schools where the couple will go to housekeeping in the near future.

Stover—Hoover.

On Saturday evening at 9 o'clock Charles H. Stover of Bellefonte and Miss Cynthia Hoover of Pleasant Gap, were united in marriage at the Methodist parsonage in this place, The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A. Wood Jr.

Both young people are popular in this community. The bride is an exceedingly pretty young lady and very bright and attractive. The groom is employed at the Bush house and was for several years a member of the Coleville band. Accept the congratulations of this paper.

BUSINESS MEN'S BIG PICNIC.

Drew an Immense Crowd to Hecla Park.

13.000 PEOPLE THERE

Towards Evening a Heavy Rain Storm Put an End to Pleasure—Base Ball, Trap Shooting and Dancing.

PLENTY OF FUN FOR EVERYONE.

The ninth annual gathering of the Centre and Clinton counties Business Men's Picnic Association was held Tuesday August 22nd at Hecla Park and drew one of the largest crowds that ever attended this pretty pleasure ground. A careful estimate placed the crowd in attendance at 13.000. The early part of the day was ideal and at 2 o'clock the grounds were just black with people. The people came on the trains, in buggies, carriages and automobiles. Those who could not get there any other way walked. The Business places in Bellefonte and Lock Haven were closed and the people turned out en masse. It seemed like Sunday in Bellefonte. The country districts were also largely represented and Philipsburg, Snow Shoe, State College, Mill Hall and even Jersey Shore and Williamsport sent large delegations. Good order prevailed almost universally during the day and this added to the pleasure.

The railroad company deserve all kinds of praise for the manner in which they transported the people to and from the Park. It was a great improvement, over former years. Trains ran more frequent and nearly on time. There was very little to complain of.

The amusement program began by a concert by the Coleville band from 9:30 a. m. to 11 30 a. m. The game of base ball then took place between Bellefonte and Lock Haven which resulted in a victory for Lock Haven by the score of 7 to 3.

At 11 a. m. the great inter county clay pigeon shoot took place between Lock Haven, Bellefonte and Snow Shoe. The teams and their scores were as follows:

Bellefonte—Haines 23, Zimmerman 10, Quigley 19, Bower 16. Total 68.

Lock Haven—Kidd 15, Shade 24, Jobson 22, Schroat 24. Total 85.

Snow Shoe—Uzzle 23, Chambers 19, Watson 21, Warfield 24 Total 87.

Each shot 25 balls. C. F Rothrock was referee. Hayes Stewart scorer.

From 1:30 to 3:30 p m there was a concert by the Caeteana band.

At 2:30 p m the event of the day took place. It was the ball game between Sunbury and Mt. Carmel it was a fine game and was won by Mt. Carmel, by the score of 3 to 1.

At 5 o'clock a heavy rain storm came up which put a stop to the festivities and almost everyone made a rush for home. Taken altogether it was a most successful picnic, barring the rain.

Leitzell—Grazier.

A very pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Grazier, at Huntingdon Furnace, at 4 p. m. Wednesday Aug 16 when their daughter, Miss Ethel J. Grazier, was united in marriage to Harry Allen Leitzell, formerly of Scottdale, but now of State College, where he is manager of the College co-operative association. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George F. Holmes, of Indiana, Pa., in the presence of a large number of guests. The attendants were Miss Mabel Grazier, sister of the bride, as maid of honor; Miss Ruth Loucks and Miss Bessie MacMillan, both of Scottdale, as bridesmaids, and Miss Juliet Marie Grazier, flower girl. The best man was Robert S. Skemp Jr., of Scottdale and the ushers W. E. and Albert C. Grazier. Guests were present from Tyrone, Indiana, New Kensington, New Brighton, Scottdale and State College. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Leitzell boarded the train at Warrioremark and came directly to State College, where they have gone to housekeeping in a home already furnished by the groom.

Opening Up Coal.

Philipsburg anticipates big things from the new coal developments on the One Mile Run. The coal is of splendid quality, the veins are thick and there is a large body of it.

John M. Rankin.

John M. Rankin of Johnstown, formerly from Centre county, died in the Cambria hospital on August 17 from the effects of a fall from a ladder in the boiler house of the Cambria Steel company where he was employed. The distance of the fall was only about four feet but resulted in fatal injuries to his spine from which he died in less than a day. He was born Aug. 1, 1858, and was 47 years and 16 days old. The deceased was the only son of James and Amanda Rankin and was born near Churchville, Clarion county, His parents died in early life, his mother while he was a babe, and he was taken in charge by the family of William Robinson of Nittany valley when but 15 months old. He was brought up and lived with this family until manhood. In 1881 he was united in marriage to Miss Annie B. Walker. To this union three children were born one of whom—a little daughter—survive. He is also survived by his wife and an aunt, Mrs. A. F. Markle of State College. The survivors of the Robinson family who were present were Mrs. Simon P. Neyhart of Milesburg and Mrs. Emma Lebkicher of Bellefonte. The remains were brought to Milesburg on Friday evening and taken to the home of the wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Walker. Funeral services were held at their residence on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock conducted by pastors Lathrop and Zeigler. Interment was made in the Messiah cemetery. This service was very largely attended and the floral tributes were especially beautiful In these were represented the F street M. E. church of which the deceased was an active member, several orders to which he belonged and his fellow employees of the Cambria works. He went from Milesburg to Johnstown nineteen years ago where he has since resided.

For the Information of Boys.

The possessors of flobert rifles and air and spring guns should know what the law says in regard to the discharge of such weapons in streets or alleys.

Under the provisions of the act of April 15, 1903, it is "unlawful for any person to discharge, on the streets or alleys of any city or borough in this Commonwealth, a flobert rifle, air gun, spring gun, or any implement which impels with force a metal pellet of any kind."

The penalty for violating this law shall be arrest and five dollars fine; for the second offense a fine of fifteen dollars and imprisonment in the county jail for not less than ten nor more than thirty days the person so offending to pay all costs o prosecution.

The law prohibiting the wilful killing or taking of song or wild birds, provides:

"That no person in any of the counties of this Commonwealth shall kill, wound, trap, net, snare, catch with bird lime or similar substance, poison or drug any bird of song, or any linnet, blue bird, yellow hammer, yellow bird, thrush, woodpecker, cat bird, pewee, martin blue jay, oriole, killdeer, snow bird, humming bird, wren, robbin, grosbeak, bobolink, phoebe bird, meadow lark, night hawk, starling, or any wild bird, other than a game bird. Nor shall any person purchase or have in his possession, or expose for sale, any of the aforesaid song or wild birds or any part thereof, after the same shall have been killed."

The penalty for violating the above law is a fine of not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars.

It is the duty of every good citizen to see that the Acts thus referred to are rigidly enforced. Persons who maliciously violate the bird law should be made to understand the consequences of their action.

A Former Resident of Centre County, Dead.

Eliza Goodfellow Lucas, died at her home in Altoona, Pa., Aug. 11, after a brief illness, and was buried Monday, in the cemetery at Curtin, obsequies were conducted by Rev. Brooke, (her pastor,) of the M. E. church, of which she had been a life-long member.

Mrs. Lucas was a sister of Evan R. and A. J. Goodfellow, who were goodfellows in the full meaning of the word, and were well known in this county. Her husband David A. Lucas, who was born and married in Bogg township, preceeded her to the grave several years ago. Mrs. Lucas now sleeps amid the scenes of her childhood and leaves to mourn their loss the following children: Theadore, Austin and Evan also Misses Mame and Julia, of Altoona, Pa.

—The Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold their annual convention in the Milesburg Methodist church on the 31st of August and 1st of September. Mrs. Seaberry will give a fine lecture on Thursday evening.

PRESIDENT STILL HOPEFUL

Of Averting Clash Over the Terms

OF PEACE CONFERENCE

Beween Japan and Russia at Portsmouth---Several Important Conferences Held.

BARON KANEKO AT OYSTER BAY.

Oyster Bay, August 23.—President Roosevelt has not abandoned hope of successful issue of the Washington peace conference. Neither has he relinquished his efforts to prevent a rupture between the conferees when they reconvened Tuesday afternoon at Portsmouth.

Events of importance succeeded each other here Monday. On an early morning train Baron Kaneko, a confidential representative in this country of the Japanese government, arrived in Oyster Bay quite unexpectedly. He has a general invitation to visit the President at any time and was received as soon as he arrived at Sagamore Hill.

That he was the bearer of important information is known, but the nature of his message is not disclosed. He remained with the President three quarters of an hour. At the conclusion of the conference the Baron declined even to discuss his mission.

Following Baron Kaneko's visit President Roosevelt had his acting secretary, Mr. Barnes, with him for two hours. In addition to the matter which the Baron had presented to him, the President received and considered an accumulation of dispatches and letters. Late in the day important messages were received from Portsmouth, the responses to which occupied the President's attention for a considerable time.

The President declines either to confirm or to deny any of the statements about the proposition which he submitted to the Russian envoys through Baron Rosen. There is a strong reason for the statement however, that the proposition involved far more than a mere suggestion that the matters in difference between the envoys be submitted to the arbitratment of an impartial tribunal.

Great Grangers Picnic.

The 32nd Annual Great Grangers' Picnic Exhibition will be held at Williams, August 18 to September 2, 1905. This is undoubtedly the largest and finest display of farm machinery held in the east. The beauty of the exhibit is that so much of it is running. Saw Mills, Shingle Mills, Threshing Machinery, Traction Engines and Ensilage Cutters galore are all shown in operation. A splendid Stock exhibit is promised. The auditorium will be attractive as usual. During the day addresses by leading Grangers and Agriculturists. Tuesday and Wednesday evenings illustrated lectures by Frank R. Roberson. Thursday and Friday evenings musical and literary entertainments by the best of Chautauqua talent. Major R. H. Hendershot and Son the most wonderful drummers and fifers in the world. Everything first class. Tickets good from August 23 to September 8, at low rates on all railroads. Consult your nearest ticket agent.

John Griffith as "King Richard."

This most excellent tragedian, by many leading critics regarded as the best living interpreter of Shakespeare's strenuous character, will appear here on September 8th, at Garman's Opera House, in an important revival of "King Richard," aided by a company and equipment that will fill all the demands of an intellectual audience. Mr. Griffith's success in other Shakespearean roles has been considerable, and he will be welcomed by theatre goers who patronize and appreciate the highest class of theatrical offerings.

District Medical Society Organized.

Representative physicians of Blair, Cambria, Clearfield and Centre counties met at Lakemont park, Altoona, on Tuesday, and perfected an organization known as the Medical Association of the Fifteenth Censorial district. Centre county physicians who attended the gathering were Dr. W. W. Feidt, of Bellefonte, and Dr. M. S. Braucht, of Spring Mills.

THE FISH HATCHERY.

A Visit to This Wonderful Institution at Pleasant Gap.

On Saturday Aug. 12 a reporter for this paper had the pleasure of visiting the State's famous "Bellefonte Fish Hatchery" at Pleasant Gap station. We had often viewed the Hatchery from a distance but never made a close inspection and we must say, we were well re-paid for our visit as it was fraught with interest and pleasure.

In the first place it is located in an ideal spot for such an institution. It is one of the prettiest places in the state and abundantly supplied with good pure water. The hatchery will in a few years be one of the largest in the state, but it is yet in its infancy. There is already erected a large frame building in which the trout fry are hatched out. Then there is a large car building for the housing of the Fish Hatchery car. The Superintendent Mr. A. L. Buller has a residence on the grounds. It is a cozy and pretty home, newly repapered and repainted, throughout. It has all the modern conveniances. We were kindly received by Supt. Buller and his estimable wife who showed us over the grounds and through the buildings. Quite a number of fish ponds have been built and there are thousands of trout of all sizes to be seen swimming about.

We were then taken in hand by G. Edward Haupt, of the firm of Haupt Brothers, contractors and builders of Concrete work, who showed us the thirteen new fish ponds which his firm have just completed for the state. The walls of these ponds are all of concrete work and are built of the finest quality of material. The firm were given two months to complete this work but they put on a big force of men and finished it in four weeks. It is a splendid piece of workmanship and reflects the greatest credit on the contractors G. Edward and Theodore Haupt.

Supt. Buller, whose health has been bad but who is now very much improved has been temporarily relieved by the State. His place is being filled by acting Superintendent W. H. Safford, whom we found to be a very pleasant and intelligent gentleman.

As we stated before the Fish Hatchery is still in its infancy. Greater improvements are contemplated and we predict that this will be a big summer resort some day.

Williams Reunion.

The sixth annual Reunion of the Williams family was held on Saturday, Aug. 19th, in the pretty grove of John Q. Miles, near Martha. The day was all one could wish for. Early in the day the people began to come. They came in various vehicles and every train brought a large quota. By two o'clock the crowd must have reached about 2,000 people.

The Scotia band was present and enlivened the day with music. The literary program interspersed with music by the band was as follows:

At 11 a. m. the clan was called to order by Pres. W. S. Williams who in a few well chosen words opened the reunion and called on Rev. A C. Lathrop for prayer.

The people led by Miss Lois Williams sang "Blest Be the Tie." The address of welcome was delivered by Gordon Williams who in an appropriate address welcomed all to the celebration.

After dinner, which is an important function in this reunion, the people again assembled and listened to the further rendition of the program.

Judge John G. Love was the first speaker and in a forcible address extolled the worth of true character. J. I. I. Hare, of Flemington, Pa., gave an interesting address on the early ancestry of the Williams' in Centre county. Clement Dale Esq., was next introduced and in his entertaining way delighted the audience. Then followed well rendered and appreciated recitations by Misses Mabel Gates, Lydia Miles and Nannie Hoover. Rev. A. C. Lathrop made the closing remarks.

There were two games of ball. The first game was between Buffalo Run and Port Matilda and the score was 14 to 3 in favor of Buffalo Run. The second game was between Scotia and a "picked-up team" and the score was 9 to 8 in favor of Scotia.

It was a day of good, social fellowship and will pass into history as the best reunion of this clan. Much credit is due to the earnest endeavors of the officers and various committees.

—Rev. William M. Resrick, of West Milton, preached two admirable sermons in the Lutheran church Sunday morning and evening.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE

Pessimistic is the Keynote in Regard to it.

CRISIS IS REACHED

As the Darkest Hour is Always Just Before Dawn Friends of Peace are Still Hopeful

MR. WITTE WILL NOT BE PRECIPITAL

Portsmouth, N. H., August 18.—The crisis in the peace conference has been reached and pessimism is again the note.

But the darkest hour is just before dawn and there is still hope. Predictions of a final rupture today certainly will not be justified unless Baron Komura figuratively picks up his hat and announces that it is useless to proceed further. M. Witte, at least, session after article 11 (the limitation of Russia's sea power in the far east) and article 12 (fishing rights on the Russian littoral) are disposed of, he will favor an adjournment until Monday to hear the last word from St. Petersburg.

The pessimism Thursday night was based upon the fact that no progress was made Thursday. The exchange of views at the morning session upon article 9, "renumeration for the cost of the war," showed at once that the plenipotentiaries were as far apart as the poles and it was passed over. Article 10 (the surrender of the interned Russian warships) was also passed, not, in the opinion of one of the plenipotentiaries when the Associated Press correspondent saw him Thursday night, because it could not have been arranged but because with the shadow of the two main points in dispute hanging over the conference both sides were cautious and preferred to postpone it to the end. Article 11 (limitation of sea power) is also adjustable after modification, and article 12 will present no difficulties. So that Thursday night the situation was practically what it was when M. Witte last Saturday presented the Russian reply with its non possumus to articles 5 and 9 (indemnity and Sakhalin.)

The only change now is compromise—Russia to yield Sakhalin and Japan indemnity, Neither will yield, both and perhaps Japan, at the final show of hands will yield neither. M. Witte, under the imperial indications can agree neither to pay war tribute nor cede a foot of Russian soil. St. Petersburg, therefore, in the last resort remains to be heard from. Doubtless this is the reason why he favors a postponement today over Sunday. Baron Komura probably will welcome an adjournment of two days in order that he may also lay the situation before its government for its final decision.

The sudden revival of deep pessimism was induced by the report given out when the plenipotentiaries returned to the hotel, that no progress had been made Thursday. But to those on the inside that was not surprising. Things have gone smoothly enough only the impasse had been reached—there had been the glint of cold steel in the conference chamber. And the few words M. Witte said to the foreign newspaper correspondents was, as usual, not encouraging. He looked tired and said nothing had been accomplished.

"Tomorrow," he said, "we will finish articles 11 and 12."

"What then?" he was asked.

"Then we will go to dinner," he replied as he excused himself, to go to dine at Assistant Secretary Peirce's.

No very great hope was vouchsafed in the Japanese camp.

"We are not bluffers," said Mr. Sato, and from an authoritative source the Associated Press correspondent received a distinctly bad impression regarding the outlook. It was coupled, however, with an expression of the hope that if it developed that the conference was going to pieces President Roosevelt might again step in.

The Quietest Place in the World:

No progressive, up to date merchant in these days pretends to do business without advertising. The fact is everywhere recognized. But a bright young lady of the bustling west adds force to the point when she makes this request of a friend:

"Do not lay me down by the rippling brookside, lest the babbling lovers wake me from my dreams, nor in the beautiful cemeteries in the valleys, lest sightseers cooing over epitaphs distract me; but let me sleep under the counter of the merchant and business man who never advertises. There is the peace that passeth all understanding, and deep is the sleep in which neither the buoyant football of youth nor the weary shuffle of old age will never intrude."

Who will dispute the conclusion of the young lady? About the quietest place in this world is the space beneath the counter of a merchant who does not believe in advertising.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co. Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

The Auctioneer

...By...

WADE MOUNTFORTT

Copyright, 1904, by Wade Mountfortt

THE last bony horse had been led from the auction block, and Mart Roberts was about to step down from his stand when a ragged man with a yellow face and sunken eyes touched him on the arm. The ragged man pulled an old silver watch from his pocket and handed it to the auctioneer. Roberts straightened up, took off his hat and faced the crowd, which had begun to melt away.

"Gentlemen," he shouted, "let me have your attention again for a few moments.

"Now, gentlemen," said Roberts, "I have here in my hand a solid silver, full jeweled, stem winding hunting case chronometer. It belongs to the yaller faced gent immediately there on my left. He is traveling an' is sick an' broke. He has a wife an' four children in a wagon down here on Salt creek, an' they've all got the ager. So he desires to barter, sell an' dispose of at public vendue to the highest bidder this full jeweled, solid sterling silver hunting case watch. How much am I offered to start it?"

"Five dollars," piped a farmer.

Roberts grew poetic over the mother and children who were "weepin' in the valley," but $5 was all he could get for the watch. Then, with a great show of magnanimity, he waved the ragged man away, refusing to accept a fee for the sale.

There was a sudden commotion in the crowd. Old Hiram Brumfield pushed his way to where the ragged man was folding up the five dollar bill.

Brumfield caught the stranger by the throat and growled, "Whar did y' git that watch?"

The ragged man tried to speak, but Brumfield was choking him. There was fury in the old man's face.

"Men," shrieked Brumfield, "I've got a murderer here! That watch belonged to my murdered boy! Git the watch, men; git it! I'll hold this snake till some of you git the watch!"

Twoscore men pressed close to where Brumfield stood holding the trembling stranger. A roar of oaths swept over the crowd. The town marshal pushed his way into the jam and found a dozen men holding the lean and sallow faced man.

"Jeff," shouted Brumfield as the marshal caught the prisoner by the collar, "here's the viper that killed my boy! That's my poor Henry's watch!"

Brumfield snatched the watch from the man who had bought it and pressed it to his lips.

"Men, you all know how my poor boy was shot an' killed by a burglar two months ago. Oh, I have prayed for the time to come when I could git these old hands on the viper's throat!"

"Stand back, everybody!" yelled Jeff Williams, the marshal. "Gimme room to get out with this feller!"

"Hang the murderer! Hang him!" bawled a half drunken man.

Mark Roberts turned upon the vociferous one and roughly pushed him aside. But the drunken man's cry did its work. Instantly there were shouts of "Lynch him! Hang him!" from dozens of throats. As Williams reached the courthouse door he made a lunge and pushed the prisoner inside. Mart Roberts stopped on the stone step and faced the mob. One man, closer than the others, carried a halter and was fighting to enter the door. Roberts planted himself in front of the man.

"WHAR DID Y' GIT THAT WATCH?"

The old auctioneer's eyes were ablaze. From under his long black coat a shining revolver leaped like a flash of lightning.

"Stan' back!" he yelled. "I'll kill the first man that sets a foot on this here step!"

The mob stopped as though it had collided with a stone wall.

"Get out of this yard, every one of you!" shouted the auctioneer, and as he spoke he advanced upon the foremost of the mob, striking viciously with his revolver. In twenty seconds the courthouse yard was cleared.

* * * * * * *

After the marshal had locked his prisoner in the dungeon under the courthouse Mart Roberts went into the cellar to talk to the man. The emaciated one was holding to the wooden bars and peering out.

"They was hot after you," said Roberts by way of opening up a conversation.

"They never give me any show," said the man. "I ain't afeared of 'em; I ain't done nothin'."

"Where did you get that watch?" Roberts asked.

"I bought it in St. Louis," said the man. "Do you hang people in this town for havin' watches?"

"Well, Colonel Brumfield says that watch belonged to his boy, who was killed by a thief."

"Good heavens!" moaned the prisoner. "Here, listen to me. I'm a stranger, an' I don't know a soul in the town. I'm travelin' from Illinoy to Kansas. My wife an' children are down thar on the creek bank in a wagon shakin' to death with the ager. This here's all a mistake, friend."

"Where is your wife an' children at?" asked the auctioneer.

"Down thar by the ford on the creek—down thar starvin' to death, man. An' their pappy locked up in this hole for a murderer! Great goodness! I don't keer for myself, but poor Lizy an' the babies"—

"Don't worry about your folks," he said. "Don't you want a drink of water?"

Roberts handed a tin cup through the bars, and the prisoner drank as though he were famished.

"What's your name?" the auctioneer asked.

"Jim Darrow."

"You'll need a lawyer."

"I ain't done nothin'—thank you," said Darrow, handing back the cup. "An', besides, I ain't got a cent in the world except this $5, an' the man that bought my watch will want that."

"Man to man, now," said Roberts—"no lying—did you kill Brumfield's boy?"

The prisoner drew himself up, looking the auctioneer in the eyes, and replied:

"As God is my judge, no! I never heard of Brumfield or his boy or anything about any of this till ten minutes ago."

"I believe you, an' I'll stand by you," said Roberts.

"An' my wife an' babies"—

"Never mind, now," said Roberts. "We will take care of them. You keep a stiff upper lip."

Roberts rode to the ford with a farmer who went that way. Twilight had settled down when he reached the place where the mover's family was camped. Near the roadside the auctioneer saw a flickering light and heard the fretful cries of an infant. Coming closer, he saw an old wagon covered with a ragged piece of canvas. Nearby an animal that might once have been a horse was tethered to a sapling. A woman sat near the campfire holding the fretting baby in her arms. Lying on the ground and on strips of bedclothing were the three other children. The woman was trying to quiet the infant, and occasionally she glanced toward the road.

"Good evenin', mum," said Roberts. "Are you Mrs. Darrow?"

"Yes, sir."

"Your husband"—

"My gracious, what's happened to him?" cried the woman, now standing erect and holding the child close to her breast.

Roberts stammered at first and then blurted out, "He's been arrested!"

"Arrested?" She repeated the word in a bewildered tone.

"Yes; he's been accused of stealin' a watch."

"Where is he?" she exclaimed, putting the baby on the ground.

"Well, don't get frightened now, mum; don't get frightened," said Roberts. "He's locked up, but"—

"Locked up!" she gasped. "Locked up! Why, man, locked up, you say! Don't they know he's pretty nigh dead with the ager?"

The woman caught up her apron and held it to her eyes. The babies clung to her torn skirts, whining piteously. "Locked up!" she moaned over and over again. "An' tomorrow's his chill day!"

Roberts put the woman and the children into the wagon, hitched up the bony horse and started for the village. On the way he tried hard to urge the miserable horse out of a snail-like gait. The mother continued to sob and moan, and the children all cried at once, while the horse crept along as though every step would be its last.

Roberts saw men hurrying along, and once a party of horsemen, uttering loud curses, passed him at a gallop. Finally when the outlandish rig had turned a corner into the main thoroughfare of the village Roberts saw the glare of a fire on the public square and heard volleys of cheers and yells.

As the vehicle passed a group of men Roberts heard one say, "We can't do anything till after midnight; the sheriff's on the lookout."

To this another replied, "We'll get him as soon as the crowd gets worked up right."

Roberts pounded the old horse and drove into the throng of men that had gathered near the auction stand. The county attorney and the mayor were on the box side by side. The mayor was haranguing the crowd and begging the people to go to their homes and let the law take its course. Some of the listeners cheered for the mayor; others jeered at him. Roberts drove the staggering horse close to the speaker's stand, and, leaping from the seat, he tore off the tattered wagon cover that hid the woman and her children from view. Mrs. Darrow's face was as pale as a corpse; her little ones were huddled close about her, and the baby was still crying.

The auctioneer mounted his stand. The red light of the bonfire lit up his familiar face.

"Hooray for Mart Roberts!" yelled half of the crowd.

"Gentlemen," exclaimed the auctioneer, assuming his characteristic pose, "you have listened to the mayor an' the county attorney, an' now I want to ask you to listen to me for a few brief seconds."

The crowd was moving closer and massing around the wagon where the woman and her children were huddled. Stern faced men gazed curiously at the woeful spectacle.

"You've done about enough today, Mart!" cried the drunken man, whose tongue was still unbridled.

"I'm not half through, either," replied Roberts.

"Gentlemen," he continued, "if ever in all your borndeu days you ever saw a wagon load of misery it is before your eyes right now. This here woman an' these helpless little children are the family of that poor ragged feller that is locked up in the courthouse over yonder. I want every man of you who ever had a mother or a sister or a wife or a daughter to look at these poor, miserable, helpless, starvin' human bein's. Men, the only hope an' strength that this little bundle of rags is got in all this wide world is locked up in that jail over there, an' you are pantin' an' yelpin' for his life!

"I'M GOIN' TO SEE THAT THERE PAPPY GITS A SQUARE DEAL!"

"Men, I don't know that man over there in the jail no more'n Adam; I never saw him in my life till he came up here today. I never saw his wife an' children till two hours ago, when I found 'em down by the creek bank cryin' an' waitin' for their pappy to come home an' bring 'em something to eat. I brought 'em here, an' I'm goin' to take care of 'em! I'll tell you something else I'm goin' to do; I'm goin' to see that their pappy gets a square deal! There ain't goin' to be no lynchin' in Martinsburg tonight!"

Roberts' voice reverberated in the narrow streets and rang out upon the night air as keen as the notes of a bugle. As he stopped talking to catch a short breath a yell of approval went up that echoed in the remotest parts of the village.

The auctioneer saw the moment of his triumph, and his quick wit turned it to account.

"Gentlemen," he shouted above the roar of voices, "this woman an' these children are sick an' starvin'. They haven't got anything in the world but their rags an' that poor old hoss. Now, gentlemen, while I talk I'm goin' to ask the mayor an' the county attorney to pass among you with their hats an' give every one of you a chance to show that the milk of human kindness is still in your breasts!"

"Hurrah for Mart Roberts! Hip, hip, hurrah!"

The din of shouting was so loud that for once in his career Mart Roberts could not hear himself talk, but he talked on just the same. When the noise had died away and the two officials were passing the hat, Roberts' voice rang out again, louder, shriller, sweeter than ever. Now he pleaded with his audience, now he joked them, now he threatened and now he exhorted.

"There's a man just dropped in a dollar!" he exclaimed. "God bless you, brother! That dollar has bought you the brightest crown in heaven. When you wear that crown down the glitterin' streets of the New Jerusalem, they'll surely take off their hats to you. Oh, my friends, crowns in glory are for sale here!"

The auctioneer's iron gray hair was disheveled, his face was aglow with perspiration and his voice rose and fell in a singsong tune for all the world like that of a camp meeting shouter with the power on him.

There were volleys of frenzied applause as Mart rattled on. He was hoarse and almost exhausted. The mayor and the county attorney dumped double hands full of silver in the woman's lap. The wagon was driven away, while Roberts urged the crowd to disperse. His crude eloquence had its effect, and in half an hour Martinsburg had gone to sleep.

* * * * * * *

When Squire Riley opened court next morning the halls and the stuffy little courtroom were packed with people. James Darrow, the prisoner, was brought in to be arraigned. Mart Roberts, smiling and bowing triumphantly, was at the ragged man's side. Mrs. Darrow and her children were on a bench in a corner.

The county attorney arose, looking very solemn, and addressed the justice of the peace. He said: "If it please the court we desire to withdraw the complain against this defendant. On examining the books of a watchmaker here we find that this watch found in the possession of this defendant was never the property of the late Thomas Brumfield. There being no evidence against the defendant, the state asks that the case be dismissed."

Mrs. Darrow sprang up with a scream and wrapped her arms around her husband's neck. She kissed his wrinkled, yellow face and said, "Pappy, this is your chill day."

In the cheering and the uproar that followed Mart Roberts mounted the squire's bench and, holding up the old silver watch, shouted:

"How much am I offered to start it?"

HAS BLOODED COLT.

Dr. H. K. Hoy's Mare Bears Offspring to Famous Cresceus.

Monday's Altoona Gazette contains the following:

Dr. H. K. Hoy of 1425 Twelfth avenue returned this morning from the famous Ketchem stables, at Toledo, O., bringing back his blooded mare, Waterwitch Maid, and her 9-weeks old colt, Cresceus King. The colt is a beauty and probably the best sired horse in the city, being the offspring of Mr. Ketchem's Cresceus, the fastest trotting stallion in the world.

Dr. Hoy's mare herself has a long pedigree, being a granddaughter of the famous Waterwitch and Pilot Junior, but her colt will have a better pedigree than her own. His sire' Cresceus, who trotted a mile in 1.59¼, was sold July 31. When Mr. Ketchem sold all his race horses for $70,000, the Australian government being the purchaser. Dr. Hoy is very proud of Cresceus King and says he has all the ear marks of a coming racer.

The Star Course.

Arrangements for the coming season of the Star Course having now been completed, Miss Sara Bayard has kindly consented to canvass for the sale of season tickets. The course this season will be first class, every number only the best of talent will open Oct. 31st and with The Apollo Glen and Minstrel Club, Assisted by Percy Jewett Burrell, reader.

This club consists of ten members, and is the musical novelty of the season.

The Rogers and Gulley recitals, are unique and delightful and have the audience wondering if it is really true that such a delightful evening has been given by a company of only two people. Maro has most wonderful new delusions, read his latest triumph in the Art of Mystery.

Dr. Edward Burton McDowell gives stories of travel illustrated by motion pictures and lantern slides in colors. Those who saw the beautiful colored views of Robeson last season will find these equally as good. The course will close with a concert by the Famous Cleveland Ladies Orchestra. Detroit Mich.—The Cleveland Orchestra never fails to attract large audiences. Their ensemble is well-nigh perfect, and they play with surprising ease and forcefulness. They are far above the standard the general public accepts from women instrumentalists and are a distinct credit to Cleveland.

At leaset 400 tickets should be sold. The price the same as last season $1.50, children under 12 years $1.00. Patronize the course liberally so that each year greater things may be attained. There are $1.00 courses but in larger places where the sales are large. A course like this cannot be furnished for $1.00 in a town of our size.

A Modern Bluebeard

or the adventures of a Female Sherlock Holmes a realistic romance founded on fact by Fanny May. You who have been reading the daily papers can easily imagine how the thought came to the author's mind to write this story. Though purely a romance, many of its most sensational and dramatic scenes are based on fact. It is a startling expose of a wicked man's wiles. This realistic romance begins in No. 1644 of THE NEW YORK FAMILY STORY PAPER

It's Dangerous To Doubt.

You have no right to doubt a thing that has been tested and found to rest on fact.

Vin-te-na has cured so many people in so many parts of the country that it is really unjust to predict a failure in any case that has gone beyond the power of medicine.

Vin-te-na purifies the blood and makes the nerves strong and steady. It not only cures disease but safeguards the system against every form of germ disease. Most all diseases are rooted in the blood. Vin-te-na cures the very cause of all blood disorders by destroying the impurities in the blood and giving it purity and warmth. Get it and be strong.

GUFFEY'S LITTLE GAME

Democratic Leader's Play For Republican Votes Will Not Go.

THE FUSION TRICK WILL FAIL

Republicans of Pennsylvania Will Stand By Their Candidates and Elect Their Ticket By Large Majorities.

[Special Correspondence.]

Harrisburg, Aug. 22.

Colonel James M. Guffey, the Democratic boss of Pennsylvania, has played his first card in his game to win over Republican votes to his Democratic machine and to get the Democracy in line for next year's contest for the governorship and the election of members of the legislature and congressmen.

Guffey realizes that his Democratic party is in very bad shape. He knows that the Democratic vote has been getting smaller every year, and that his only hope of making any showing at the coming election is through a fusion campaign. He placed the Republican nominee for supreme court justice upon the Democratic state ticket because he was fully aware of the fact that no Democratic candidate would stand a shadow of a show against Justice Stewart in a fight for the supreme bench. From the outset he recognized the fact that his Democratic nominee for state treasurer, Mr. Berry, was booked for a good licking at the polls in November next. Now he has sought to work the old game of fusion to hoodwink the Republicans into voting for Berry, but he has nothing to fuse with.

There will be the usual quota of so-called independent Republicans here and there who will go along with Guffey, just as others of their class have voted for Democratic candidates time and time again, but they will experience the usual result on election night when the news will be flashed over the telegraph wires announcing a sweeping Republican victory in Pennsylvania.

Guffey to the Front.

In commenting upon the outcome of the Democratic state convention held here last week, the Philadelphia Inquirer very aptly said:

"Colonel Guffey comes to the front with his Democratic party and makes his bow to the public. He presents to the voters the Republican candidate for the supreme bench, adopts some resolutions and adjourns in the hope that the people of Pennsylvania will elect his candidate for state treasurer, one Berry, of Chester.

"His convention at Harrisburg was called for the purpose of carrying out the little game of politics which the never victorious leader of Pennsylvania Democracy is engaged in. He thinks there must still be a large independent vote in the state therefore he bids for this vote. He says, in effect, 'I am an independent. In proof of my independence, see what I have had my convention do. I have had it nominate a Republican for justice of the supreme court. Now you can show your independence by taking my nominee for state treasurer.'"

Pretty Little Game.

"It is a very pretty little game. By taking this step the colonel confines the campaign to a single office. He thinks there is more chance for Democratic success in November by conjuring with the name of John Stewart, Republican, than by presenting a full Democratic ticket. It is really the beginning of the campaign of next year, when a governor will be elected. The colonel rightly figures that if he could but carry Pennsylvania in November next for his Democratic candidate for state treasurer he could go into the fight next year with all the enthusiasm of past victory and make a hopeful contest, not only for governor, but for the legislature and for members of congress in several close districts.

"We do not think that there is very much danger that Colonel Guffey's party will make much progress. Why should there be? Are the several hundred thousand honest and conscientious Republicans of Pennsylvania going to desert their party because of an investigation into some filtration contracts in Philadelphia? The state treasuryship has got just about as much to do, the Republican party itself has got just about as much to do with that investigation as the investigation into the methods of the agricultural department at Washington has to do with the Republican organization of the nation at large. There is absolutely no connection."

Treasury In Fine Condition.

The Republican party of Pennsylvania is not under fire except to the extent that the usual Democratic guns carry their harmless political projectiles. The treasury of the state is in a splendid condition. The state is out of debt. From the ordinary revenues a great capitol building has been erected. Five and one-half millions go every year to the public schools. The charities of the commonwealth are enormous. For the care of the insane large sums of money have been appropriated by the last legislature. In many respects we are leading every other state in the Union, notably in the matter of public education. These vast sums have been handled without the loss of a single penny to the people. The administration of the state treasury is today above criticism. Public moneys are collected and banked strictly according to law. There are no opportunities whatever for the misuse of public funds.

It is plainly the intention of Colonel Guffey to hoodwink the people into the belief that because of filtration investigations in Philadelphia the whole Republican party is not to be trusted.

But when he takes that ground he assails the Republican voters themselves—several hundred thousand of them—for it is these voters who constitute the Republican party. They are not corrupt. They find nothing wrong at Harrisburg and we fancy that Colonel Guffey and his candidate, Mr. Berry, will have something of a hard time to make them agree that the great Republican party of Pennsylvania should be overthrown because of a municipal matter in Philadelphia, which Philadelphia is quite capable of settling.

BARON KANEKO'S BOY.

Little Son of One of Japan's Statesmen Wants Harvard Degree.

An incident in the life of Baron Kentaro Kaneko, former member of the mikado's cabinet, who is now in the United States, gives an intimate insight into the relation between Japan and the United States, says World's Work.

The baron is a graduate of Harvard university. After he had become one of his country's most distinguished statesmen the university conferred the honorary degree of doctor of laws upon him. President Eliot gave a dinner in honor of the baron, after which he said to him:

"Harvard university has conferred on you its highest honor. We can do no more, but I understand there is a son in your family. We claim him as a future recipient of the degree we conferred upon you. I trust he will come to us and be a worthy successor of his father."

"He will come," replied the baron.

The baron returned to Japan and told the Baroness Kaneko about the incident. She told the little boy that he was to go to Harvard and receive the degree, and the fact made a great impression on the child. Whenever he was naughty the mother said:

"If you are not good you will not receive the Harvard degree." He always became good.

Events moved swiftly in the far east. The war with Russia came. Baron Kaneko, who had an important part in national affairs, prepared to go to the United States. A week before he started this conversation occurred:

"When do you start?" asked the Baroness Kaneko.

"In a week," replied the baron.

Just then the little boy interposed:

"Where are you going, papa?"

"To the United States," he said.

"Then I must go with you and get that Harvard degree!" exclaimed the child.

The boy is now a student at the Noble's school in Tokyo. Upon his graduation he will go to Harvard.

President Roosevelt's Worldwide Hit

The president made a hit with the entire world, from the pope and London Times to John D. Crimmins, when he presented Russia to Japan, expressed in diplomatic language a hope that the best would win and finally called time, says Harper's Weekly. We guess that, barring possibly T. Jefferson, he is the only president we have had who could speak really good French. He also speaks excellent English. The most busy day was that which brought Secretary Shaw, Mr. Morgan and Baron Kaneko, one after the other. The president went to bed pretty tired that night. On Sunday he preached.

NOVEL CALENDAR.

One Designed by Flammarion Would Answer For Every Year.

Notwithstanding the disastrous results attending the attempts of French scientists at the time of the revolution to reform the calendar, this subject seems still to interest certain individuals, and the most recent proposition comes from M. Camille Flammarion, the well known astronomer, who intends to recommend to the French chamber of deputies a bill to make compulsory a new calendar he has devised, says Harper's Weekly.

M. Flammarion would commence the year at March 21, the vernal equinox, and divide it into quarters, each containing two months of thirty days and one month of thirty-one days. Consequently the year would consist of 364 days and there would remain an extra or fete day which would not belong to any single month. Leap years would be marked by two such fete days.

The new calendar is so designed that the same dates would always occur on the same days of the week, and one calendar would answer for every year.

A Statue to Adam.

After all these years a statue has been set up to that original and deserving person, Adam, says the New York World. It stands on Nicholas Engasfos' front lawn, Ninety-fifth street, Chicago. The statue is of plaster and cost $836. Several of Adam's distant relatives subscribed. The statue represents a muscular man about forty years old, who wears a full beard and looks like a Russian.

A Wide Awake Schoolma'am.

To prevent tardiness an Iowa schoolma'am recently announced she would kiss the first arrival at school every morning, says the Milwaukee Sentinel. That same night three directors and a baldheaded bachelor, who had not been to school in forty-seven years, slept in the long grass of the schoolyard and were up before dawn. When the schoolteacher arrived she announced a dead heat and withheld the ruby lips from the osculatory onslaught. This is a mean old world.

ON THE FIRING LINE

Republicans of Pennsylvania Ready For An Aggressive Campaign.

CLUBMEN ARE IN THE VAN

Easton Expects a Great Crowd at the Convention of the State League of Republican Clubs.

[Special Correspondence.]

Philadelphia, Aug. 22.

Within 10 days the Republican campaign in Pennsylvania will be well under way and work will be begun in earnest to assure the election of the entire Republican ticket by large majorities. Much has already been done in that direction in the preliminary canvass, and the September extra assessment out of the way, the campaigning to interest the voters in the Republican cause will be spirited and unceasing until the polls close on the 7th of November next.

Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican state committee, states that the county chairmen have never before accomplished so much work thus early in a canvass, and his reports from every section of the state are exceedingly gratifying. His correspondence is very large and a corps of stenographers are kept busy until late every evening running off on typewriters his letters to committeemen and other active Republicans in the several counties.

Although this is what is styled an "off year," when it is not expected that there will be many mass meetings, Chairman Andrews has already got a number of applications from young Republicans and many veteran orators offering their services to the state committee to address any mass meetings that may be held under the auspices of the state organization. The chairman will also be in a position to furnish orators to county meetings held by direction of the county chairmen.

Young Men to the Front.

The state organization is giving every encouragement possible to the officers of the State League of Republican Clubs who are preparing for their convention, which will be held in Easton the middle of next month. This promises to be one of the most important conventions held in the history of the state league, and all possible arrangements are being made for the entertainment of the visitors.

There will be full representation of the clubs and a large attendance of active and earnest party men—men who are in the party from conviction and principle, and not for personal gain. The league always has been found on the side of clean and aggressive Republicanism. Most of the clubs have among the delegates who will attend the annual convention those active young men who are looking ahead for promotion in our state and local politics. They are the working volunteer force of the party. Neither faction nor dissension can swerve them from loyalty to the party which they place above and beyond men and individuals.

The league is a powerful and important adjunct to the state committee and a political help to success. The state ticket this year is a good ticket, clean, able and Republican, and there is no reason why it should not receive the earnest and zealous support of all good Republicans. It certainly will have the cordial untiring support of all the clubmen over the state.

Campaign of Misrepresentation.

As an indication of how the Republicans of the interior of the state view the Philadelphia situation, this from the Pittsburg Gazette is of interest:

"In the history of Pennsylvania politics there has never been as dirty a campaign of misrepresentation as that now in progress. There has been trouble in the city of Philadelphia. It began with a gas franchise ordinance and has gone to the extent of involving some city contractors. In due course and by due process of law the accused will be declared guilty or innocent according to their deserts. In the meantime, however, there is a hue and cry sent out over the state that these men are guilty, and their sins are laid at the door of the Republican party.

"The attack on the Republican party, however, is of another color. There is no mistaking that. It emanates from the committee of the whole of the Democratic party and is boosted along by the organization of misfits whose motto is rule or ruin. Its very absurdity has led to allowing it to go unchallenged for so long that it is beginning to be accepted outside the state. The charge has been taken up by a lot of blantant yellow journals that try to carry political water on both shoulders, but which never lose a really good opportunity to thrust at the Republican party. That is all there is to it. There is no shadow of truth in the claim and the Republican voters in November will ram it down the false throats that give it utterance."

Golf Without Profanity.

A new sect known as "Christian Golfists" has been founded by the Rev. George Cady, one of the best known Congregational divines in Iowa, says a dispatch from Iowa Falls. Dr. Cady, who is an enthusiastic golfer, manages to play the game without using profane language, and he thinks he can induce others to drop that habit.

PROOF OF EDUCATION.

Chicago Professor's Questions Requiring an Affirmative Answer.

Professor Frank J. Miller, examiner of secondary schools, said recently at the junior chapel of the University of Chicago that only those who can answer all of the following questions in the affirmative are educated, says a Chicago dispatch:

Has education given you sympathy for all good causes? Has it made you easier to interest in them? Has it made you public spirited, so that you look beyond your own dooryard and take interest in a clean city?

Has it made you a brother to the weak?

Have you learned the proper value of money and time?

Have you learned how to make friends and keep them? Do you know how to be a friend yourself?

Can you look an honest man or pure woman straight in the eye?

Do you see anything to love in a little child?

Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?

Can you be high minded and happy in the drudgeries of life?

Can you think washing dishes and hoeing corn are just as compatible with high thinking as playing the piano or playing golf?

Can you be happy alone?

Are you good for anything to yourself?

Can you look out on the world and see anything but dollars and cents?

Can you look into a mud puddle and see the blue sky reflected? Can you see good in everything?

Can you look up to the sky at night and see beyond the stars? Does your soul claim relationship with the Creator?

Professor Miller said the failure to answer any of these questions affirmatively is enough to send the man or woman who thinks he or she knows it all back among the uneducated. "The college curriculum does not contain all that is necessary to the educated man," said Professor Miller. "A man may be graduated and go out into the world and still prey on society, notwithstanding his so called education."

Threshing by Electricity.

A novel threshing scene recently occurred on the farm of August Broerman in the west part of Cuyahoga county, O., when George Heinfeld with his force of men continued threshing grain for Mr. Broerman until 10 o'clock at night and all by the light of a number of electric lamps, the current for which was produced by a dynamo driven by the engine while the other machinery was being operated, says a special dispatch from Wapakoneta to the Cleveland Plain Dealer. An employee of the electric light plant at New Bremen installed the dynamo.

A Russian General's Salary.

The salary of General Kuropatkin, one of the commanders of Russia's military forces, is said to be $100,000 a year.

Rosen's Reason.

[Baron Rosen of the Russian peace commission is provoked at being followed about by an army of camera fiends.—Current News.]

I'm weary as can be—sky of the crowd of camerists
That never, never, day or night, from vigilance desists.
I've had myself snapshottedoff and kodakisedovitch
Until I fear I'll overcrowd my small historic niche.
I can't step out to take a stroll to stretch my tired legs
But hosts of shutters swift are clicked by squeezing rubber eggs;
I can't lift up my hat to greet a comrade or a friend
But some confounded camerist has caught my graceful bend.

At night as I put out the light to tumble into bed
A flashlight in my room explodes—I'm frightened almost dead.
Then in some sheet next day I'll read, with anger's deepest thrill,
"Above is Baron Rosen as we caught him dishabille."
I cannot frown or yawn or stretch, I cannot speak or smile,
But—click! A cut with caption you can read at half a mile.
And even now—to me 'tis sad; 'twill make the public laugh—
Some rag will shriek of this my mood set forth en photograph!

I'm weary as can be-sky of the mob of camerists—
The vampire throng that never from its vigilance desists;
I'm tired of "Rosen's eyebrows," of "Herr Rosen's whiskered chin,"
Of "Rosen, as this picture shows, has hair that's rather thin,"
Of "Rosen's hand is hairy, as this photograph denotes,"
Of "These are lips of Rosen, who for peace or warfare votes."
I can't step out to take a stroll and stretch my languid legs
But hosts of shutters quick are clicked by squeezing rubber eggs!

Today.

Today is your day and mine, the only day we have, the day in which we play our part. What our part may signify in the great whole we may not understand, but we are here to play it, and now is our time. This we know, it is a cynicism. It is for us to express love in terms of helpfulness. This we know, for we have learned from sad experience that any other source of life leads toward decay and waste.—David Starr Jordan.

His Diagnosis.

Mrs. Green—William, what objection have you to that young man who is calling on our daughter? Green—He is silly, Mary. Mrs. Green—Oh, that's because he is in love! I remember the time when you were a very silly young man. Green—Silly isn't the proper name for it, Mary. I was a measly idiot—that's what I was!

The Opinion of An Editor.

The Republican has steadily maintained that the work of the Y. M. C. A. as it will be carried out in the new building, will be one of vast importance to every one interested in the welfare of Bellefonte. The editor of the "Atlanta Constitution" one of the leading papers of the south, in an editorial printed recently has this to say:

We believe that the Young Men's Christian Association takes its place on a practically even plane of importance with our schools and churches; we can hardly put the matter more strongly, since these two latter factors are at the basis of civilization. We believe that next to the churches, this institution has saved more bodies and souls from the evils of city life than any other influence. Each day the city expands; destructive temptations must inevitably become more numerous; opportunities for the making of men and careers increase commensurately, the city's future is in the hands of the young men. Do we not need the Y. M. C. A. to help us in looking after these vital details? Could our money be invested in any other enterprise offering so sure or so broad a return?

The wise, just and far-seeing spirit which leads our citizens to uphold religious, educational and recreative movements should operate to afford the Y. M. C. A. adequate support and means for growth. It is of equal importance; its past has been equally productive, its future well-being should be an equal source of solicitude. To the ministers and church people we say that their obligation, morally and religiously, to sustain the association is second only to their respective creeds. To the business men we say that pressing as are the civic and commercial issues and problems confronting them, the ones we find outlined are no less; we must have men to face issues and problems, and the Y. M. C. A. is making them. From a commercial standpoint alone, the need is one which will permit no hesitation. If business and church men will take stock in this strongest and most altruistic organization of the day, they will have no cause to regret the investment.

Asbury ParkBooklet.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company nas just issued an attractive booklet descriptive of Asbury Park. The publication is designed to present the attractions and claims of Asbury Park as a Summer seaside resort, and also to announce the reduced rate arrangements on account of the meeting of the National Educational Association, which will be held at Asbury Park July 3 to 7.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS.

Low-Rate Vacation Trips via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The remaining dates of the popular Pennsylvania Railroad ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Washington and Baltimore are August 25, September 8 and 22 and October 13. On these dates the special train will leave Washington at 7:55 a. m., Baltimore 9:00 a. m. York 10:40 a. m., Harrisburg 11:40 a. m., Millersburg 12:20 p. m., Sunbury 12:58 p. m. Williamsport 2.30 p. m., Lock Haven 3:08 p. m., Renovo 3:55 p. m., Emporium Junction 5.05 p. m., arriving Niagara Falls at 9:35 p. m.

Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10 from Washington and Baltimore; $9.35 from York; $10 from Littlestown; $10 from Oxford, Pa.; $9.35 from Columbia, $8.50 from Harrisburg; $10 from Winchester, Va.; $7.80 from Altoona; $7.40 from Tyrone; $6.45 from Bellefonte; $5.10 from Ridgway; $6.90 from Sunbury and Wilkesbarre; $5.75 from Williamsport, and at proportionate rates from principal points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo within limit of ticket returning.

The special trains of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion running through to Niagara Falls. An extra charge will be made for parlor-car seats.

An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion.

For descriptive pamphlet, time of connecting trains, and further information apply to nearest ticket agent, or address Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

Pennsylvania Railroad Maintains Schedule.

During the month of July the Pennsylvania Special arrived in Chicago exactly on the minute of its schedule every day. The eastbound Pennsylvania Special arrived in New York on schedule time twenty-three years. The average detention on seven days was less than ten minutes, due entirely to conditions for which the train crew could not be held responsible. The greatest breach in the schedule was on July 14, when the Special was held up behind a freight wreck, which blocked all four tracks on the Middle Division, entailing a loss of two hours and twenty two minutes in the regular arriving time at New York.

It is difficult to find a match for this record. It demonstrates that the schedule has sufficient elasticity to take up any ordinary detentions which may occur between termini, and that even a faster regular schedule may be made should it be deemed wise. The fine condition of the roadbed, the efficient motive power and skillful operation all contribute to the ease with which the Special accomplishes its work.

Reduced Rates to Philipsburg.

For the benefit of those desiring to attend the meeting of the Central Pennsylvania Firemen's Association, at Philipsburg, Pa., August 24 and 25, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets to Philipsburg on August 23, 24, and 25, good to return until August, 26, inclusive, from all stations on the Middle Division and Branches; the Tyrone Division and Branches; Harrisburg, Fassett, and intermediate stations; Millersburg, Lykens, and intermediate stations, Sunbury, Mt. Carmel, and intermediate stations, and from stations on the Eastern and Lewistown Divisions of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad, at reduced rates.

For Parade Day, August 25, excursion tickets will be sold from above-named points, good going and returning only on August 25, at rate of single fare for the round trip; minimum rate, twenty-five cents.

For specific rates consult ticket agent.

Reduced Rates to Grangers Picnic at Williams Grove, via Pennsylvania Railroad.

For the Thirty-second Annual Inter-State Grange Picnic Exhibition, to be held at Williams' Grove, Pa., August 28 to September 2, the Pennsylvania Railroad company will sell excursion tickets from August 23 to September 2, inclusive, good to return until September 6, inclusive, at reduced rates, from all stations on its lines in the State of Pennsylvania, and from Baltimore, Frederick and intermediate stations on the Northern Central Railway.

There will be an elaborate display of farm machinery in actual operation during the exhibition, and addresses will be delivered by well-known agricultural speakers.

For information in regard to train service and specific rates application should be made to ticket agents.

Death of a Child.

The funeral took place Wednesday morning. Interment at Vail.

Think Their Commissioners Are "Worked."

The Bellefonte Gazette asks a very pointed and interesting question concerning the scalp bounty law. It says:

"Several years ago Judge Mayer, of Clinton county, directed the commissioners not to pay any more premiums on the scales of minks, wild cats and foxes. The Centre county commissioners still pay these premiums. Since then more scalps come from Liberty township—which borders on Clinton—than from all the balance of Centre county combined, and the question arises: 'Do these animals all migrate to Liberty township to be mercifully killed, or are some of them slain in Clinton county and 'sworn' over the line? It is a matter that might be investigated."

The Value of Reputation.

Committee Wants Correct Names of Centre County Soldiers.

In order to secure absolute accuracy in the names and spelling thereof on our soldiers' monument, we will publish from time to time the lists of certain companies so as to enable those who are interested to suggest changes in initials or spelling, and also to suggest the names of any persons who may have been omitted from the rolls. This is the last opportunity which will be given to our people and to the survivors or friends of deceased soldiers who served from Centre county to have these names corrected. The Committee, therefore, appeals very earnestly to all who are interested in the subject to carefully scan all the names so ascertain.

1st, whether any have been omitted; and

2nd, whether the names of those already contained in the rolls are properly spelled.

It is also very important that the names of soldiers who enlisted in organizations outside of the county or State should be secured, in order that they may find their place among the nation's defenders upon the monument. This is perhaps the most important thing which the Committee has in charge, the organizations from our own county being already well known. If, therefore, any person, in or out of the county, has knowledge of a citizen of Centre county who enlisted in organizations outside of the county and State, it is especially important that their names should be ascertained, so that they may find a place among those who enlisted at home.

Any communication in regard to these names addressed to Gen. John I. Curtin or William H. Musser, Bellefonte, will receive prompt attention.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Up to Date Bunny

One day Mr. Rabbit was loping around the woods, looking for whatever might satisfy his hopeless appetite, when he espied a large trap set by Mr. Man. He walked up cautiously and inspected it. Inside was a luscious looking chestnut. Mr. Rabbit's mouth watered, but being an up to date rabbit he sat on his haunches and considered.

"Huh!" said he. "That sort of thing is played out. Might have fooled my grandaddy, but he's got to play a foxier game than this to catch me.

"Wonder how I'll get that chestnut, though."

It didn't take him long. In a moment he was off on a trot to Mr. Man's cabin in the woods and banging on his back door.

"Ho, Mr. Man, come out here!"

Mr. Man stuck his head out.

"What yer want?" he asked.

"Please, Mr. Man, give me a brick."

"What yer want with a brick?"

"Oh, I'm tired of life and want to die. Earth has no joys for me more. I'll tie the brick around my neck and jump in the pond. You'll never be troubled with me again."

Of course Mr. Man wanted to get rid of Mr. Rabbit, as he had done so much harm about the place, so he gave him the brick.

Mr. Rabbit thanked him sadly and started for the pond.

"Now watch me," he grinned, when he got back to where the trap stood. Saying which he tied the brick on to the other end of the lever that held the trapdoor and quietly got his chestnut out without harm. On the inside of the trap next morning Mr. Man found a note which read: "Mr. Man, you are a chestnut."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

THE ROOSTER FINDS THE MOON

Because he had eaten too much supper a rooster one night was unable to sleep, and he just had to sit up on the roost and gaze out through the cracks in the hen house roof at the stars while all the rest of his family slept and snored.

He thought the stars were very wonderful, and the moon seemed marvelous.

The next day as he was crossing a field he came across a ball—one of those fancy colored bouncing balls that children love to play with. Now, Mr. Rooster had never seen one of them before, and he did not know what it was.

"THIS MUST BE THE MOON."

"This must be the moon that I saw last night," he said finally. "I wonder what it is doing down here instead of being up in the sky? It is very beautiful, it is true, but I would like to see it shine as it did last night. I suppose it doesn't shine during the day, so I'll wait until night and see it."

So Mr. Rooster sat down by the ball and waited. The sun went down, and it grew dark and black clouds hid the stars and all the sky, but still the ball would not shine.

"It is very strange," declared the rooster as he sat and waited.

All the other chickens had gone to roost hours before, but still the rooster waited and watched.

Then the wind began to blow and the thunder to roll and the lightning to flash, and the first thing Mr. Rooster knew it was raining in torrents and he was soaked to the skin and most frightened out of his wits.

"I'll save the moon," he cried, and he grabbed up the ball and tried to run with it. When he reached the hen house door, the rain had stopped and the wind had swept the clouds from the sky, and Mr. Rooster looked up and saw the moon smiling sweetly at him.

"So this isn't the moon after all," said Mr. Rooster, looking down at the ball. "Well, I guess it must be one of the stars."—Atlanta Constitution.

A Yellow Calla Lily.

A Santa Rosa (Cal.) letter says that one of the prettiest of Luther Burbank's floral creations which is just attaining perfection is a yellow calla lily. In coloring the blooms range from light lemon to a deeper orange shade of yellow. Burbank first obtained the specimens, which have a slight yellow coloring, from Africa. These are difficult to grow, as the bulb decays. He then crossed them with a hardy dwarf calla and increased the richness of the yellow coloring until he has produced wonderful results.

The constant aching of a bad back.

The weariness, the tired feeling.

The pains and achs of kidney ills.

Are serious if neglected.

Dangerous urinary troubles follow.

A Bellefonte citizen shows you how to avoid them.

Frank P. Davis, moulder, of 246 E. Logan St., says: "I used to suffer very much with a weakness of the back and severe pains through my loins. It kept me in constant misery and I seemed to be unable to find any relief, until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at F. Potts Green's drug store and used them. They reached the spot and in a short time my strength returned. I have never had any trouble of the kind since and am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills not only because they helped me but because I know of others who have also found relief in the same way, and I have yet to hear of a case in which this remedy has failed to give satisfaction."

CALIFORNIA

Do you want to live where the climate is mild the year round—where labor is never oppressed by stress of weather, and where animal vitality is never lost by mere conflict with cold?

Do you want to live in a region where the resources are more varied than in any other equal area in the world, where the division of great ranches affords a fine opportunity to get a small farm that will assure you a competence?

Do you want to live where, with a minimum of labor, you can grow profitable crops of grapes and small fruit, oranges, lemons, olives, prunes and almonds, alfalfa and grain, where crops are sure, business is good and capital easily finds profitable investment?

Then go to California, where both health and opportunity await your coming.

The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line is the most direct route to the Pacific Coast, and there are two fast through trains daily via this line, over the famous double-track railway between Chicago and the Missouri River.

Special low round-trip rates are in effect via this line throughout the summer to various Pacific Coast points, and colonist low rate one-way tickets will be on sale during September and October, which give an unusual chance for settlers to make the trip at a minimum of expense.

Daily and personally conducted excursions are operated through to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Portland without change, on which a double berth in a Pullman tourist sleeping car from Chicago costs only $7.00, via the MAINE MURDER!

Mattie Fleck Aged 18 Years, Was the Victim

THREE MEN ASSAILANTS

The Fourth of a Quartette Was With the Father at the Time the Crime Was Committed.

HE DENIES BEING IN THE COLLISION

Kentshall, Me., August 19.—With a gash on the side of her head and a small cord tied tightly around her neck, Miss Mattie Hackett, aged 18 years, daughter of Levi H. Hackett, was found on her father's farm, unconscious. She died without recovering consciousness.

About 9 o'clock Thursday night four poorly dressed young men called at the Hackett farm house and asked for food. Mr. Hackett was about to start for the barn to do some chores, and his wife was at a neighbor's. Calling his daughter, Mattie, Mr. Hackett told her to get the strangers some supper. One of the men, who says his name is Harry Jones, accompanied the farmer to the barn, the other three remaining in the kitchen doorway. A few minutes later Mr. Hackett heard a stifled outcry, and, accompanied by Jones, he hurried to the house. No one was there, and he and Jones went into the field from whence they heard an outcry. They found the girl lying by the roadside about forty rods from the house She was unconscious, but breathing. In the darkness they did not see the cord which was strangling her, and only discovered it after they had carried her into the house. Its loosening was too late to save her life.

Jones was plied with questions about his companions by Mr. Hackett and a neighbor. He said he knew the name of only one, James Brennan. They were released from the Androscoggin jail Thursday morning. He denied having been in collusion with them in the assault of the girl.

A posse of armed men was formed and started on a hunt for the tramps.

Jones, who is 25 years of age, is under detention. He was sent to jail from Auburn for vagrancy two months ago While the motive for the horrible crime is not clear as yet, the police are inclined to the belief that the murderers had attempted to assault the girl.

The wound on the girl's head was evidently caused by a blow with a stone or club in the evident desire to silence her outcry.

New Town of Sagamore.

C. W. Goodyear, vice president of the Buffalo and Susquehanna railroad, his son, Bradley Goodyear, and C. P Munch, general manager of the B. and S coal operations, have been in the company's coal fields south of DuBois this week, says the Courier.

Their developments near Plumville are taking on immense proportions. A number of new houses are under way for the use of the workmen and many others are to be built, while the opening of a colliery is being advanced rapidly. This mine is planned to be a superlatively complete plant when ready for operation.

Contractor Greco is moving along with the railroad work, but it is now clearly apparent that he will not have it finished by the first of September, as he once thought he could. Contractor Corbett, who did some of the work on the Pittsburg extension of the B. R. and P., is helping out on the south end.

The new town, which is to be built near Plumville, and which inside of two years will contain 3,000 people, is to be called Sagamore. It is destined to overshadow the country village of Plumville, and it is to be the policy of the Good years that it shall be well built. It is their ambition to make it a model mining town.

WEAK HEARTS

are caused by Indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart.

Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

DON'T BE WOOZY!

NERO

was a most crafty Roman, but he made one mistake.

He committed suicide at the wrong end of his life,

He should have shuffled off at the beginning.

A great many business men today are committing business suicide at the wrong end of their lives.

They mean well at the start, but drift away from their good resolutions

One means of a long and prosperous business life is to have good printing and stationery.

A business is judged by its reading matter.

THE REPUBLICAN

Job Printing Department is prepared to furnish the best.

Cost is a secondary consideration when you consider the quality—sufficient it is to say our prices are so reasonable that it would be a waste of shoe leather to look further.

It has a distinctiveness all its own—a something that distinguishes it from the common trash of the ordinary shop.

Again we say:

"Don't be Woozy."

Think it over and for your next order, remember the

BRIEF MENTION

Short Items of Local Interest Gathered By The Way Side

—Mrs. Samuel T. Brooks is rapidly recovering from her recent serious illness.

—Mr. and Mrs. John J Bower and family spent last week at the Nittany Country Club.

—Herbert Sheffer carries his arm in a sling as the result of a broken collar bone.

—Charles R. Kurtz is building a new kitchen at the rear of his High street residence.

—Horses brought an average price of $104.62 at the Gentzel—Beezer horse sale on Monday.

—County Commissioner Philip H. Meyer is talking of moving to Centre Hall this fall.

—Mr. Robert Cole and family spent last week down at the Masonic camp at Curtin.

—Miss Pearl Powers, daughter of Mrs. Edward L. Powers, has accepted the position as clerk in Bush's book store.

—Mrs. Archie Allison of North Allegheny street, gave a small card party, Wednesday evening for Miss Anna McCoy's friends.

—M. I. Gardner now has the foundation walls for his new house on the corner of Spring and Howard streets ready for the brick work.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wise are rejoicing over the arrival of a young son who made his appearance at their home early Wednesday morning.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Quigley and Mr. and Mrs. John M. Shugert, with their families, are spending this week the Nittany Country Club.

—The Wallace Brothers, of Milesburg, are now at work relaying the pavement around the Reynolds block on the south east corner of the diamond.

—Work on the new Catholic convent is progressing nicely, and arrangements are being made to push the erection of the building as rapidly as possible.

—Three new brick crossings are being laid at the intersection of Spring and Linn streets. They will be a nice improvement to that part of town.

—Edmund Blanchard took a party of sixteen to the "House of Lords," on Nittany mountain, Monday evening, where he entertained Miss McCoy and her friends.

—Henry Krape, a graduate of the Myerstown college, was recently elected principal of the Haines township High school, at Aaronsburg, at a salary of $60 per month.

—Rev. David Neely, of Baltimore, Md. preached a most excellent sermon in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. There was a large audience present and all were well pleased.

—The expert accountant that has been at work on the books of the Platt-Barber company since the arrest of John G. Platt completed his examination last week and reported the amount of the shortage at $173,000.

—Friday morning Charles Richards was found unconscious on the floor of his bed room at their home on East Linn street. The Doctors pronounce his ailment, congestion of the brain and his condition is very serious. He is however slowly improving.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCoy and Miss Anna McCoy entertained a large party of friends last Tuesday Aug. 15 in honor of Miss Anna's school friends, Miss Sinn, of Germantown; Miss Hemphill, of New Jersey and Miss Roff of Norristown. The party lasted from eight to eleven p. m.

—Among the smaller social gatherings of last week were a bridge party for thirty given by Mr. and Mrs. Clif. Thomas, Saturday evening; a party for the same number entertained by Miss Mary Thomas, at Mrs. Lane's both Tuesday night and Thursday and on Wednesday evening Miss Mary Blanchard gave a dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mitchell.

—During the thunder storm, last Sunday, the barn on the farm of Wm. Stiver, near Hublersburg, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The farm was occupied by Jacob Weaver as tenant farmer. The loss on the building is estimated at $1,800, with $1,200 insurance, while on the crops, etc., the loss was over one thousand dollars with $600 insurance.

—Two recent important business changes at State College was the buying out of the Krumrine Bros. general mercantile store by the Pierce brothers and the purchase by Luther Fry of the general mercantile store of J. L. Holmes. The Pierce Bros. have already leased a store room in the new hotel building being erected where they will move their store just as soon as the same is completed.

—Samuel T. Brooks has sold his automobile livery to John Porter Lyon.

—There will be no services in the Lutheran church next Sunday morning or evening.

—The Snow Shoe base ball team was defeated at Agars Park Thursday by the Lock Haven team, 13 to 2.

—The Forest City band of Scotia, who furnished the music for the Williams reunion at Martha on Saturday is one of the finest in Central Pennsylvania. Their music was well selected and pleased everyone. Their success is in part due to the fact that for several months they have been taking instructions from Prof. Sam Bryant of this place, who is certainly a dandy in his line of work, —On last Monday evening Col. Austin Curtin entertained at his home at Curtin's Works Miss Katherine Musser, Miss Sadie Bayard, Miss Rankin, Misses Underwood, Mr. Harris Heylman and Mr. Russell Blair all of Bellefonte after refreshments and spending the evening very pleasantly the guests left for home at a late hour. In going to the Colonel's they drove down Nittany and through Curtin Gap and had a fine drive.

—R. M. Bailey, at one time president of the Central Pennsylvania Telephone company, before it became merged with the Pennsylvania Telephone company, died at his home in Williamsport Sunday at noon. The deceased was well known in this locality and was at one time train dispatcher on the Pennsylvania railroad at Tyrone. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the body was taken to Milton for interment. His wife survives the deceased. They had no children.

—The Wilkesbarre fishermen who were fined $25 each for fishing on Sunday, in 1903, and who have since expended nearly $1,500 contesting the action of the justice, who imposed the fine in the higher courts, notified the state fish commissioner the other day that they were satisfied and were now ready to settle. They paid pretty dearly to find out what common sense should have taught them, that the fish and game laws cannot be monkeyed with. Their experience may serve others who are now afflicted with the same combative spirit.

—Harvest Home Services were held in St. John's Reformed church and in the Reformed Church at Zion Sunday. In both churches the display of fruits, vegetables and flowers was most artistic and added much to the joy of the service. The pastor Rev. Mr. Schmidt took as his text, St. Mark 4:29—"The Harvest is Come"—and gave a review of the abundant harvests and the lessons to be learned from all seed planting and final reaping. The offerings were for the Relief of Disabled Ministers and amounted to $32.15 in the two congregations. Monday morning, the fruits, vegetables and flowers used in the service at St. John's Church, were sent to the Bellefonte Hospital.

—The Woman's Home Companion for September opens with the first instalment of its new serial by A. Wilson Barrett. It is entitled "The Silver Pin," and promises to be one of the most absorbing detective stories ever written. Shorter fiction is not forgotten, and there are five tales which are complete in this number, among them one by Anne O'Hagan, a stirring tale of Western adventure, and another, "Their Second Honeymoon," delightful in every way, by Fannie B. Rice, a new writer of much promise. There is also a fairy tale by Dr. Max Nordau, an unexpected contribution to literature. The first installment of the intensely interesting "Excursions into the Unknown—Ghost Stories from Real Life" is included, and there is a splendidly illustrated theatrical article with reproductions of some very rare photographs of well-known players. The new knitting department begins, and all the old departments are in place. Published by The Crowell Publishing Company, Springfield, Ohio; one dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

U. S. Mail Matters.

To facilitate a more accurate handling of the mail by rural free delivery carriers the Postoffice Department is arranging for the numbering of all rural letter boxes which under the regulations of the department are entitled to services, and authorizing the delivering by rural letter carriers of ordinary mail matter of all classes addressed to boxes by number alone so long as improper and unlawful business is now permitted in the case of post-office boxes. Instructions will be issued to post-masters within a short time to assign to boxes entitled to service consecutive numbers, beginning with the first box reached by the carrier after leaving the postoffice and a new box erected subsequent to the original numbering will be assigned the next consecutive number in the use of the particular route.

Death of Beech Creek Lady.

After an illness of but five days with appendicitis, Mrs. John P. DeHass died at her home in Beech Creek Sunday night, aged 35 years. She is survived by her husband, two sons and one daughter, also by her father, James McGhee, of Beech Creek, and two brothers, Oscar, of Beech Creek, and Robert R., of Mill Hall.

DEEPER FRAUD NOW ALLEGED.

Another Chapter in the Zerby--Platt Case.

Some days ago the Republican and Daily News gave an account of proceedings taken against John J. Platt, formerly of the Platt-Barber company, at the instance of R. H. Zerby, the present secretary and treasurer of the company, and successor in that position to Mr. Platt.

Space was given to the affair because both parties are well known here, where the company has a large wholesale grocery establishment.

Last Friday's North American contained another chapter reported in a dispatch from this place, the action being taken in the Cebtre county court. It alleges that a continuation of the investigations of the company's affairs by experts show an increasing amount of misappropriated funds. Among the various things alleged, the dispatch says:

"Fuller investigation of the books of the Platt-Barber company, of Philipsburg discloses the condition of affairs in connection of the case with alleged embezzlement against John G. Platt, the former secretary-treasurer, who was arrested on July 29.

"At that time it was stated that the alleged defalcations would amount to $100,000. Now it is claimed that the sum will exceed that amount by far, and may run up anywhere between $150,000 and $200,000,

"In the information Platt is charged with negotiating a note for $2941.189 on the Chase National bank, of New York, September 24 last, which was endorsed by the Platt Barber company in his favor, and the proceeds of which he appropriated to his own use. In October, 1904, the informant charges, he drew a $3,000 check in favor of himself; at various times in December, 1904, he drew checks, aggregating $2450; on and before December 29 he appropriated the sum of $40,000; on January 3, 1905, he appropriated a sum of $14,938.65, being at the time indebted to the company $120,000, only $50,000 of which was charged against him in his personal account, while no record appeared on the books of the company for the remainder.

"It is further alleged that at least some of the money thus appropriated was used to establish the Platt Coal Mining company, an organization in which he is the principal stockholder. In like manner he is charged with appropriating the firm's money to other personal business interests without the knowledge of the other members of the firm.

"From the time of the organization of the wholesale grocery company, twenty years ago, Platt personally supervised everything. One work he did every day was to open the mail, take out all orders and turn them over to the various departments to fill. In the performance of this work he received all checks sent the firm and, as a sample of his methods, it is alleged that when he was superceded by R. H. Zerby upward of $80,000 in undeposited checks was found in a pigeon-hole of his desk, some of the checks being over seven years old; while in a few instances the firms who drew the checks had gone out of business."

Death of Harris Bloom.

Harris Bloom, one of the best known citizens of Ferguson township, died Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at his home in Bloomsdorf. Death was due to dropsy and other ailments after an illness of six months.

The deceased was 55 years of age and one of Ferguson township's most progressive farmers. He was married and leaves a wife and seven children. He also leaves two sisters and one brother.

He was a member of the Lutheran church in good standing and always found attending his place of worship when meetings were in progress. He had resided in the house in which he died, his entire life time.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Pine Hall church. Interment in the Pine Hall cemetery.

Death of Moses Jackson.

Moses Jackson, an aged colored resident of the town, was found dead in bed at his home on High street Sunday morning. He was about 80 years of age and was born in Virginia.

During the Civil War he served as a private in Co. D, 24th Regiment, Virginia infantry.

The funeral took place from the house Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment in the Union cemetery.

Mr. Ray a Benedict.

Announcements of the marriage of Miss Florence E. Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Nelson, to Mr. Perley Orman Ray, instructor in history and political science at the College here, have lately reached this section of the country. The happy event took place at the home of the bride's parents in Burlington, Vt., on Wednesday, August 9th.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray will be at home in State College after October 1st.—State College Times.

—We get busy next month. If your house needs painting better give up the order now and we'll save a date for you. Ketner & Co.

With them are two lady friends from Shamokin whose names we did not learn. Accompanied by Misses Verna Geise and Laura Runkle they made up a jolly driving party to Bellefonte Wednesday taking supper with Mr. and Mrs. D. Wagner Geise.

A Plucky Hello Girl.

Presence of mind and quick action on the part of Miss Pearl Sanders, an operator in the Sunbury exchange of the Telephone and Telegraph Company Wednesday night, no doubt prevented much damage to the First National Bank building, on the top floor of which the exchange is located.

Miss Sanders was alone at the switch board, answering calls about 9:30 o'clock, when a vivid flash of lightning shot out in front of her eyes, almost blinding her. Many connections were made on the board at the time, and almost instantly, it appeared, the board was enveloped in flames.

Instead of swooning from fright, as most young ladies would have done under the circumstances, Miss Sanders stuck to her post bravely and began pulling out the plugs to break the connections.

Electricity flashed about her on all sides, and before she had accomplished her task a table near the board became ignited and it was some little time before Miss Sanders mastered the situation and extinguished the blaze.

Somewhere along the line, it is believed an electric light wire came in contact with a telephone wire and caused a heavy current to run into the board at the exchange, causing the fire.

The damage was slight, but, had the fire gained a few minutes headway, it no doubt would have been very great, owing to the exchange being located on the fourth floor of the building, where the firemen would have had much difficulty in fighting the flames.

A Bellefonte Girl Came Near Sneezing to Death.

Fourteen-year-old Mary Raymond of Bellefonte, who has this summer been visiting at the Hotel Palace, at the end of the trolley line, near the shops, says the Jersey Shore Herald, came near sneezing to death, and as a result is now in a serious condition.

On Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock she was taken with a violent attack of sneezing. The paroxysms came intermittently every minute or so. She continued the sneezing for an hour, when doctors were called. The sneezing continued all through the night and Drs. Seely and Mohn remained with her all the time.

Thursday morning she was still sneezing and the doctors could do nothing for her. She became very weak and was growing weaker all the time until after 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when the sneezing stopped after having continued for 19 hours. The doctors cannot for the peculiar happening, but attribute it to loss of control of the small muscles in the nose.

No Tuberculosis.

Recently a report was circulated up Buffalo Run that the herd of cattle belonging to Mrs. Mary Green, of near Filmore, was infected with tuberculosis, inasmuch as a couple of cows were sick. The matter was reported to the State Live Stock Sanitary Board and Dr. Leonard Pearson, State Veterinary Surgeon, instructed Dr. J. Jones, of this place to make a thorough inspection and test of the herd. Dr. Jones spent all day Tuesday at the Green farm inspected the herd and made a thorough test of the twenty-three head of cattle with the result that not a trace of tuberculosis was found, and he so reported to Dr. Pearson. The two cows sick were affected with cold but the herd is entirely free from any other infection or disease.

The Odd Fellows Re-Union.

A good sized crowd attended the Odd Fellows re-union at Grange park Thursday and all had a delightful day of it. The principal speaker was Rev. Miles O. Noll, formerly of this place but now of Carlisle. Among the other speakers were J. C. Meyer and J. Kennedy Johnson Esqs., of this place, Mr. Laird Holmes and Mrs. Tillie G. Haines, of Altoona. The gathering was in the shape of a basket picnic and one of the most pleasant hours of the day was the dinner hour.

MARRIED.—William E. Gerbrick and Miss Agnes D. Fisher, both of Nittany were united in wedlock Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock at the Evangelical parsonage, Bellefonte. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. P. Cox.
